Friends,

On December 16, 2024, there was yet another school shooting—another tragedy, another set of innocent lives lost. And what do we do? We move on. We've become numb to it—children murdered, teachers, staff, and administrators losing their lives, and we remain too busy or indifferent to truly care. How many more lives must be lost before we wake up?

As the pastor of a church with a school, I live with the ever-present fear of what might happen next. Every day, we lock our doors, monitor access, and try to ensure our teachers can teach and students can learn without fear of being gunned down. But the fear never leaves. More headlines, more deaths, —and still, nothing changes. No outrage. No social movement. Just a quick mention in the news cycle, then we move on. It's unacceptable.

As of December 16, 2024, there have been at least 83 school shootings in the U.S.—27 on college campuses, 56 on K-12 grounds. 38 dead, 115 injured. Yet we continue to debate the same issues while children die. How much longer are we going to let this continue?

Stop with the empty "thoughts and prayers." Thoughts and prayers should lead to action. If they don't, they're just an excuse to do nothing and let this madness continue. This is not about political parties or policies. This is about the safety of our children and teachers, and confronting the mental health crisis we continue to ignore.

We don't need armed teachers, administrators, or security guards. That's not a solution—it's an escalation. We don't need more guns, razor wire, locks, or fear. Violence is not the answer to violence. We don't need schools to become fortresses. We need a culture that values life over death, solutions over violence, and true love for our neighbors over self. Love that includes taking care of our children's physical, emotional, and mental well-being.

Since Columbine in 1999, over 338,000 students in the U.S. have experienced or witnessed gun violence at school. For over 20 years, parents, educators, and students have lived in fear. This doesn't have to be our future. We can create safe, supportive schools by addressing the root causes and implementing proven strategies. Some of the most impactful include:

- Fostering a Safe and Trusting School Climate: Creating an environment where students feel secure, respected, and supported, allowing them to thrive academically and socially.
- Crisis Intervention Programs: Trauma-informed programs to help schools de-escalate potentially dangerous situations before they escalate, alongside mental health services to help people in crisis.
- Community Advocacy for Secure Gun Storage and Monitored Sales: Holding gun owners accountable for unsecured firearms and enforcing comprehensive background checks.
- Other strategies include providing mental health counselors, educating parents on warning signs, and building a network of community support and safety.

I invite you to join me on Thursday, March 6, 2025, at 7:00 p.m. at Solomon Lutheran Church and School for a time of prayer followed by a discussion on actionable steps to prevent gun violence and create safer, healthier environments in our schools. We can do better. We must do better. Change must start with us. Let's come together to work toward a future where our children and educators are safe.

With the Peace of Christ,

The Rev. Dr. G. Alan Brown II, OSL, Pastor and Superintendent

Solomon Lutheran is a body of believers, fully alive in Christ, serving others, and growing in the gift of grace.
